GERMANY REJECTS THE PEACE TREATY

Say Acceptance Would Make People a Nation Of Slaves.

Paris, May 13.—The heads of the two German democratic parties and the parties of the center have informed Chancellor Scheldemann that their parties will withdraw their representatives from the Government in case the cabinet decides to sign the peace treaty, according to a dispatch from Berlin received here by way of Basle.

The Socialist Vorwaerts, in commenting on this action, says it is the first step toward a cabinet crisis.

Berlin, Monday, May 12.—The declaration by Chancellor Scheldemann in the National Assembly today that the peace terms were "unacceptable" brought the members of the Assembly and those in the press gallery to their feet in a hurricane of cheers and applause.

The Chancellor reached the climax of his statement on the peace terms ten minutes after he began. The Chancellor paused in his address and then thundered out the word which announced the German Government's rejection of the Versailles conditions.

With the exception of the Independent Socialists, led by Hugo Haase, all factions of the assembly arose and cheered vociferously. The assembly is sitting temporarily in the assembly hall of the University of Berlin, on Unter den Linden.

After the Chancellor's speech, the leaders of the various parties, with the exception of the Haase group, made speeches in which they declared they backed up the government.

The Chancellor described the peace treaty as "a dreadful and murderous document." He said it would make an enormous part of Germany in which 10,000,000 persons would have to labor for the victors in the war. The Chancellor said German trade would be strangled should the peace terms be accepted.

He criticized President Wilson and said that the President by his attitude had deceived the hopes of the German people.

Turning Point for Nation.

Chancellor Scheldemann said that the occasion was the turning point in the life of the German people, as the Assembly was to decide the attitude toward what our adversaries call peace conditions.

"The representatives of the nation," he continued, "meet here as the last band of the faithful assemblies when the fatherland is in the greatest danger. All have appeared except the representatives of Alsace-Lorraine who have been deprived of the right to be represented here just as you are to be deprived of the right to exercise in a free vote the right of self-determination."

"And I see among you the representatives of all the German races and lands, the chosen representatives of the Rhineland, the Sarre, East Prussia, West Prussia, Posen, Silesia, Danzig and Memel. Together with the deputies of the menaced regions, I see the deputies of the menaced provinces, who if the will of our enemies becomes law, are to meet for the last time as Germans amongst Germans."

"I know I am one in heart with you in the gravity and sanctity of this hour which should be ruled by only one idea—that we belong to one another and must stand by one another, and that we are one flesh and one blood and that whoever tries to sever us is driving a murderous knife into the living body of the German people."

"To keep our nation alive—that and nothing else—is our duty. We are pursuing no nationalistic dreams. No questions of prestige and no thirst for power have a part in our deliberations. Bare life is what we must have for our land and nation today while everyone feels a throttling hand at his throat."

"Let me speak without tactical considerations. The thing which is at the basis of our discussion is this thick volume in which 100 sentences begin 'Germany renounces.' This dreadful and murderous volume by which confession our own unworthiness, our consent to pitiless disruption, our agreement to helotry and slavery, are to be extorted—this book must now become the future code of law."

Attacks Wilson.

"The world has once again lost an illusion. The nations have in this period, which is so poor in ideals, again lost a belief. What name on thousands of bloody battlefields, in thousands of trenches, in orphan families and among the despairing and abandoned has been mentioned during these four years with more devotion and belief than the name of Wilson? To-day the picture of the peace-bringer as the world pictured him is pulling beside the dark forms of our jailers to one of whom, Premier Clemenceau, a Frenchman, recently wrote: 'The wild beast has been put in a cage on bread and water, but is allowed to keep his teeth, while his claws are hardly cut.'"

"All over Berlin we see posters intended to arouse a practical love for our brothers in captivity. They show sad and hopeless faces behind the prison bars—that is the right front-piece for the so-called peace treaty, a true portrait of Germany's future."

"Sixty million are behind the barbed wire and the prison bars—sixty millions at hard labor for whom the enemy makes their own land a prison camp. Should the peace conditions be accepted, Germany no longer could call anything her own, which lies outside these narrow bounds. Germany has ceased to exist abroad, but if that were not sufficient her enemies have been taken from her and her wireless stations can send only commercial telegrams and then only under control of the Allies. This would separate us from the outer world, for what business can be done under the control of competitive need not be described."

"But this is far from enough. The Council therefore determines treaties between enemy countries to be null and void except such treaties whose execution is in favor of a government of the Allied Powers."

"What does President Wilson so aptly say? That the first principle of peace itself is equality, equal participation in common benefits."

Herr Scheldemann then argued that this principle had been abrogated in the peace terms.

"Must Perform Forced Labor"

"That is the full picture in its external aspects; without ships because the mercantile fleet passes into enemy hands, without colonies, without colonies, without foreign settlements, without reciprocity and legal protection, yes, and even without the right to co-operate in fixing prices for the goods and articles which we have to deliver as tribute."

"I ask you what honest man will say that Germany can accept such conditions. At the same time, as we shall have to bestir ourselves to perform forced labor for the benefit of the entire world, our foreign trade, the sole source of our welfare, is destroyed and our home trade is rendered impossible. Lorraine iron ore, Upper Silesian coal, Alsatian potash, the Saar Valley mines and the cheap foodstuffs from Posen and West Prussia are to lie outside our frontiers. We are to impose no higher tariff or protection than existed on August 1, 1914, while our enemies may do as they like at every point in strangling us at home. All German revenues must be held at the disposal of our enemies for payments, not for war invalids and widows—all as forced labor for products, the prices of which will be fixed by our customers."

"What is a people to do which is confronted by the command that it is responsible for all losses and damage that its enemies suffered in the war? What is a people to do which is to have no voice in fixing its obligations?"

WITH A STONE LADY

KILLS CHICKEN HAWK

Mrs. Emerson Stevens, of near Central Grove, bears the proud distinction of being the only lady known to have killed a hawk with a rock. She heard a commotion among her chickens Monday, and on going out discovered an unusually large hawk after her young chickens. The would-be chicken thief flew off, but immediately returned and renewed its efforts for a dainty meal from Mrs. Stevens' flock and the hawk made the mistake of its life when it ignored, and maybe classed the lady with those who couldn't throw, for as it momentarily alighted on the fence near the house the good woman with the aim of an old time rifle shot hurled a rock at Mr. Hawk and killed him as dead as the proverbial "door nail!"

The Next Governor of Kentucky

HON. EDWIN P. MORROW,
Of Somerset, Republican Nominee for Governor.

For the second time the Republicans of Kentucky have made Ed Morrow their standard bearer for chief magistrate of the Commonwealth. The distinguished young leader needs no new introduction to the people of the state. His name is a household word in the remotest hamlet, his lithograph hangs on the walls of the humblest cottage, and he lives, as no other Kentuckian in recent years has lived, in the hearts of the people. There is something about the manner of the man that commands not only the respect and confidence, but the personal affections of the multitude coming in contact with him. Ed Morrow is not a politician, but a leader and an advocate. A man of deep, warm feeling, and with a firm grasp of the needs of the great common people, of whom he is by birth, by habit and by temperament a part, and he obeys an impulse common to his class in aspiring to position of power in his state, and of usefulness to his people.

THE CIRCUIT COURT ENDS LONG TERM

The Ohio Circuit court will close a four weeks continuous sitting, tomorrow. Several terms having been passed on account of flu bans and war demand for farm work, Judge Slack called a special term for the last two weeks of April, which was followed by the regular May term of two weeks. A large volume of civil business and such criminal work as was on docket received attention, and both the civil and criminal dockets are well cleared.

REPUBLICANS MEET IN MASS CONVENTION

The Republicans of Ohio county met in mass convention at Hartford, Saturday, and appointed delegates to the state convention at Lexington. In the absence of the county chairman, Ed Barras, the convention was called to order by Hon. M. L. Heavrin. Hon. Albert Leach was elected chairman and Mr. A. D. Kirk secretary. On motion the chair appointed Otto Martin, C. E. Smith, Richard Baker, William Schroeder and Mack Cook, a committee on resolutions. The committee returned the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

KICKED BY HORSE AND LEG BROKEN

Goebel, a young son of postmaster Ozna Shults, received a serious injury, when kicked by a horse, Monday morning. The boy was driving the horse in a wagon team, and while his feet were hanging over the front wagon gate the horse kicked him, breaking a bone in his leg. Physicians were called and splinted the broken limb, and he is getting along nicely. The horse is given to kicking and Mr. Shults had frequently warned the boy to be cautious, but he persisted in taking a boy's risk and incurred the consequence.

THE ROAD MOVEMENT.

The effort to build a modern highway from Bowling Green to Owensboro, via Cromwell, Beaver Dam, Hartford and either on down the present route of the Hartford and Owensboro road, or by Hefflin, appears to be up to the Hartford section. It is our information that the residents along the Hefflin route have practically raised their quota; as to the Bead-Burford sections we are not advised if anything has been done, and if not, if the road is built it is morally certain to take the Hefflin route. Beaver Dam and the section beyond, to Green River, have their quotas almost assured, so we are informed. This leaves Hartford section unprovided for, at this time. We are for the building of modern roads for every section of the county, but as it appears to us, no other road could possibly be constructed that would result in so much good to so great a number of people. Is the town of Hartford, the people of this community, going to sleep through the present opportunity like sluggards and let this greatest of boons die "a-bornin'"? If this local section lies down on the stretches on either side, thereby breaking the link between Bowling Green and Owensboro, depriving the thousands of others of the right to use a good up-to-date road, it would be the most shameful thing that this community has been guilty of since we have known it. We don't believe it will do so either, but it will require work, liberality and a bit of apparent sacrifice and we have come to the point where it must be done now, if at all. We are asked to raise by subscription, 20 per cent of the estimated cost, this to be supplemented by a like sum by the County, the balance or 60 per cent will be paid by the State and Federal Governments. Don't lose sight of the fact that there is absolutely no way to get this splendid and much needed highway without the people along the route raise the 20 per cent. So let's get busy, do it now, because the matter will be finally closed for us within the next few days and the opportunity gone for a long time to come.

KEPT HIS PLEDGE BUT DAMAGED A TREE

Mr. Charlie Taylor, the Plowing Mill man, of Beaver Dam, would keep his promise if he lost a limb. One day last week Charlie started out to learn to pilot a Ford, and while passing a neighbor's house the women folks sitting on the porch, observing he was a little awkward in operating the machine, smiled at his clumsiness. Stung by the mild criticism Charlie banteringly told them he was going to learn to operate that Ford or land it in a ditch. A few minutes later the Ford came to a sudden stop and the bark on a tree needed replugging, but Charlie kept his pledge, if we may substitute a tree for the ditch.

THE FRUIT CROP.

Reports of condition of the fruit crop indicate the damage to all fruits is more serious than it appeared sometime ago. Small fruits, except black berries, are practically all killed. Early apples appear to have suffered least, though seriously damaged, and late apples, except in specially favored localities, are almost a complete failure. Peaches are dropping rapidly and only a small crop of this fruit will hang on until ripe.

REPUBLICANS MEET IN BIG CONVENTION

Strong Ticket Is Endorsed And Wise Platform Adopted.

By Fred D. Vanover.

Lexington, Ky., May 14.—Condemning the Democratic administration of the state for wasteful extravagance and violation of the confidence of the people, the Republicans of Kentucky in convention here tonight adopted a platform into which was written a remedy for their political ills—a declaration of independence from a demagogic rule—and unanimously endorsed a ticket headed by Edwin P. Morrow to lead the party to victory in November.

The convention was one of the most enthusiastic and harmonious gatherings of the party ever held in Kentucky. It was also asserted by old convention followers here that the crowd of more than 4,000 persons crowding the auditorium in Woodland Park, was the largest ever seen at a Republican convention.

From the moment E. T. Franks, of Owensboro, rapped his gavel calling the great gathering together at two o'clock this afternoon until the closing moment of the convention, the proceedings moved with smoothness and rapidity, despite the fact that some Democratic hopes had predicted a wrangle in the convention over the endorsement of officers for certain places on the ticket and over the adoption of a policy with regard to the tax problem.

The ticket endorsed here tonight, it was confidently believed by the leaders, would be accepted by the people with the same unanimity that characterized their platform convention and that the necessity of a Republican primary election in August would be obviated. The candidates endorsed tonight will file their petitions with the secretary of state, and unless other candidates come forward within forty days of the date of the August primary will be certified as designated under the primary election.

The following candidates were endorsed:

For Governor—Edwin P. Morrow, of Somerset.

For Lieutenant Governor—S. Thruston Ballard, of Louisville.

For Secretary of State—Fred A. Vaughn, of Pike County.

For Attorney General—Charles I. Dawson, of Pineville, Ky.

For Auditor—John J. Craig, of Covington.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—George M. Colvin, of Springfield.

For Clerk of the Court of Appeals—Roy B. Speck, of Bowling Green.

For Commissioner of Agriculture—W. C. Hanna, of Shelbyville.

FISHING PARTY HAS SUCCESSFUL OUTING

A fishing party made up of Dr. A. B. Riley and little son, John, Joe Miller and son, Joe Jr., Babe Collins, Harve Sheffield, with Lem Nall for cook, spent last week at High View, on Green river. The party reports a catch of more than 150 pounds of fish, and that they had a very pleasant outing. Dr. Riley is authority for the story that after a twelve pound cat fish had got loose from where it was tied to the bank Mr. Sheffield caught it with a dip net. The story is reasonable to the experienced fisherman, who knows that a fish turned loose after being long tied requires a little time to recognize the condition of its freedom, and is slow to move from the spot.

ALL TEACHERS TAKE THIS EXAMINATION

All teachers in the county will be required to take the examination this year, on account of the introduction of the new branch, Agriculture. Examinations will be held here today and tomorrow, and the greatest number of teachers ever assembled at a single examination is expected to appear. Teachers holding Life and Life certificates must take for examination, along with taking it for the first time, the teaching of Agriculture in the schools is made necessary by law, passed by the General Assembly, in the right direction.

STORY OF DAUGHTER OF GENERAL TAYLOR

Eloped With Jefferson Davis Place Of Marriage Mystery.

One of the strangest of the great American romances—and one about which no two accounts ever seem to agree—was that of Jefferson Davis and Sarah Knox Taylor, daughter of Zachary Taylor. They eloped and were married against the bitter opposition of old Rough and Ready, that much is certain, but where they were married always has been an uncertain point.

Today, if one goes to the ruins of old Ft. Crawford, near Prairie du Chien, Wis., folks will point out the spot where young Lieutenant Davis courted pretty Sarah Taylor and they will relate that the pair were married not far from the fort. At the Taylor homestead near Louisville those who assert they know the story of the romance can show the little spring beside whose rippling waters the young people walked and talked in their courtship days. And the story is told that the two were married at the old Taylor home.

Down at Ft. Gibson near the Oklahoma-Arkansas line, can be encountered still another story of the elopement and the widow down which Sarah Taylor is said to have descended into the arms of her waiting lover is pointed to as irrefutable argument in favor of the Ft. Gibson version. Still another tale heard in the southwest is that the elopement occurred at a Ft. Smith, Ark., where Col. Taylor and Lieutenant Davis also were stationed at one time and that the couple were married there.

A fifth story is that the two went secretly to St. Louis on a river steamer, after eloping from Ft. Crawford, and were married at the home of Col. and Mrs. William Christy, friends of the Taylor family. The old Christy mansion was long ago one of the landmarks of St. Louis.

Davis, then a young West Point graduate, and Miss Taylor met when Colonel Taylor and Davis were both assigned to the small force that was engaged in protecting the long north-west frontier. Taylor and Davis were conspicuous in subduing Black Hawk and in putting down the several Indian uprisings that occurred in the early 30s. It was in 1833 that the attachment between Davis and Sarah Taylor sprang up. Davis was then 25 years old, a tall, slender man, with a rather broad handsome face and large gray-blue eyes. He was as straight as an Indian, and he had all the graces of the southern gentleman combined with the military bearing of the young West Pointer.

Sarah Knox Taylor is described as a very comely girl, several years Davis' junior. She was greatly in love with the young officer, but when the subject of marriage was discussed with her father the old colonel furiously refused his consent.

The exact reason why Taylor did not look with favor upon Davis' suit never has been divulged. By some it was said to be due to the fact that he did not wish his daughter to marry an army officer; others have suggested that it was because of a difference in opinion between Taylor and his subordinate arising out of a court-martial, upon which both sat. Old Rough and Ready was a man of strong likes and dislikes. He never forgave an enemy and an antagonism once acquired was never eradicated from his mind. He sternly forbade his daughter to have anything to do with Davis.

It is likely that Colonel Taylor was responsible for Davis being sent to Ft. Gibson, then a remote post little favored by army men. Davis did not find it at all congenial and resigned from the army in 1835.

It was in 1835 that history records the marriage of Davis and Miss Taylor. But history is vague on the matter of where the marriage occurred. Certain it is that Col. Taylor's sister aided the young pair, despite the inevitable anger of her brother. The Kentucky version is that they were married at the home of the sister, who was then residing on the Taylor homestead.

The young bride died a few months after the marriage. Both she and her husband fell ill at the same time and neither could be informed of the other's condition. It is said that Mrs. Davis died without her father's forgiveness.

Taylor, too, never quite forgave Jefferson Davis, though his enmity toward the future president of the confederacy was ameliorated somewhat by the latter's gallantry at the battle of Buena Vista. Davis was again a subordinate under Taylor, then a general, in the Mexican war campaign. By not a few historians Davis' Mississippi rifleman is given the credit for saving the day at Buena Vista when Santa Anna's seemingly overwhelming forces attacked the little American army.

About Rheumatism.

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is the most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that there is a remedy that will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. It is called Chamberlain's Liniment.

THE 20-CENT ROAD TAX.

The following counties to date have voted the 20 cent road tax:

Fayette, Shelby, Franklin, Nelson, Mercer, Pike, Hopkins, Owen, Washington, Grant, Muhlenburg, Henry, Carroll, Fulton, Carlisle, Livingston, Letcher, Martin, Wolfe, Owsley, Esch, McCreary, Butler, Cumberland, Hancock and Perry.

A careful examination of the above list will show that a great many of the counties that have voted the tax, have much better roads than some counties that have defeated the tax. What is the reason?

The tax by the people of Kentucky for bad roads is far in excess of what the tax would be for good roads.

Perry county perhaps holds the record as only 72 votes were cast against the tax in that county.

Every county in Kentucky has gone over the top in the Liberty Loan. Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. drives, now why not go over the top for roads? Let us have good roads. NOT EVENTUALLY BUT NOW.

WEEK OF MOURNING CALLED OVER TREATY

Berlin, Friday May, 9.—A week of mourning has been decreed by the government to give expression to the "sorrow and depression" called forth by the announcement of the peace terms. The week will begin Sunday.

The decree provides that public frolics must be stopped for a period of eight days. Its provisions affect the first-class theaters in the same manner as the popular cabarets. Dancing, horse racing and gambling will be suppressed for the week and the occasion will probably be used to put definite end to the gambling frenzy which is holding Greater Berlin in its tentacles. A season of soul searching would seem to be the most probable reaction to the frivolity and gambling which has been in progress.

HUNS SEE HOPE IN SLAV UNION

Leaders, Crushed By Allied Peace Terms, Turn To Country For Help.

New York, May 10.—Germany has reacted to the peace terms by turning to Russia as a possible source of eventual help from the stern penalties inflicted by the victors at Versailles.

This symptom of a desire for revenge is strongly apparent among the leaders of Germany. The Treaty of Peace is not accepted in Berlin as the final reckoning. It is regarded as a temporary affair, which Germany will later attempt to destroy. For this purpose, Russia is the principal instrument at hand. The German statesmen have begun in fact, without waiting for the arrival of the full text of the Versailles pact, to lay their plans for cajoling the Russians into a new intimacy.

The Peace Committee of the German National Assembly has drawn up a recommendation that Germany come to terms with Russia and conclude a Treaty of Commerce. It is certain that if any such treaty is made the Germans will give a generous exchange to the Russians. Herein is the danger to the Western world.

Russia is still an outcast nation. She is searching everywhere for friendship. If Germany is the first to grasp the opportunity thus offered, makings of a new menace to civilization will begin to start in the East.

Germany, seeking relief from the heavy burdens of uncertainty and unproductivity that have existed since the signing of the armistice, is apparently anxious to accept any terms of Peace that will permit it to return to work. For this reason it is probable that the German plenipotentiaries will sign the treaty after a final protest. But there can be no trust in their signatures. They will regard the document as a scrap of paper. If ever the opportunity comes to destroy it. Whether they will deliberately seek this opportunity, depends more than anything else upon the future development of Russian-German relations.

Do You Enjoy Life?

A man in good physical condition is almost certain to enjoy life, while the listless and dyspeptic are dependent, do not enjoy their meals and feel miserable a good share of the time. This ill feeling is nearly always unnecessary. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets to tone up the stomach, improve the digestion and regulate the bowels is all that is needed. Try it.

RATE INCREASE NECESSARY.

Washington.—In a statement issued by Director of Railways Hines it is shown that the total deficit to the government for 1919 in the management of the roads will amount to $768,000,000 and implies that in order to make up a part of it it will be necessary to further increase freight and passenger rates.

In view of the fact that Director General McAdoo raised the passenger rates in many cases fifty per cent and freight rates horizontally twenty-five per cent, any further increase in rates is likely to raise as great a storm as would the recommended policy of absorbing the deficit by taxation. In explaining the deficit Mr. Hines admits that there is a tremendous falling off in business and that therefore expenses could not be correspondingly readjusted. Industrial enterprises," he says, "have generally suffered embarrassment on account of the fact that business has been curtailed." It is likely that when Congress meets it will probe the causes of the deficit to determine whether it has in any way been due to the mismanagement and extravagance which have been charged on all sides since the taking over of the roads by the Government.

Cause of Headache.

If knowing the cause, a disease may often be avoided. This is particularly true of headache. The most common cause of headache is a disordered stomach or constipation, which may be corrected by taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. Many others have obtained permanent relief by taking these Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.

EX-KAISER FRANTZ OVER NEWS OF TRIAL

Amerongen, May 11.—An official abstract of the preliminary peace terms published in the Dutch news-papers, which was retranslated and read to the former German Emperor to-day, has aroused considerable excitement among the members of the Hohenzollern party.

An inkling concerning what the Entente intended to do in connection with bringing William Hohenzollern to trial had reached the German officials earlier in the week.

They communicated the information to the former Empress, who displayed signs of marked emotion, but decided to await the appearance of a fuller official report before making the news known to her husband.

A special messenger motored to Arnhem Thursday to procure copies of the local newspapers. Meanwhile the former Emperor continued his usual occupation of sawing logs but apparently he is suffering from ever-growing nervous excitement. His saw worked as never before and his physician, Dr. Foerster, who assisted him, was completely exhausted at lunch time.

How the former Emperor took the news the correspondent was unable to ascertain as every one in the castle is sworn to secrecy regarding happenings. Rumors were circulated in the village that he attempted to commit suicide by hanging, but these are considered canards since his attendants are quite calm.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTOR

LAND FOR SOLDIERS.

Two million acres of good land have been located in the State of Georgia alone for use in the proposed reclamation project for discharged soldiers, according to Miss Stella N. Marks, special agent of the investigating and inspection service of the United States Department of Labor, who has been in St. Louis after spending several weeks in Georgia with other agents locating available lands. Most of this property is owned by the State of Georgia, to which

It has reverted from delinquent taxpayers.

Miss Marks said although the soldiers' land measures failed to come to a vote before the last congress the Department of the Interior, with the cooperation of the Department of Labor and Agriculture, was going ahead with the plans. Under the direction of Ethelbert Stewart, agents will visit forty States and locate the most desirable available land and make detailed reports on it.

This investigation was begun some time ago, and has been practically completed in the Southern States. The Georgia land that is being considered is mostly cut-over timber land, and when cleared will make excellent farming soil, she said. It is not swampy or marshy, and very little drainage will be required.

$2 WHEAT AND $2 CORN SEEN

Grain Prices Hinge On Gov- ernment Control, Is Gen- eral Opinion.

Minneapolis Minn., May 10.—The grain situation, so far as Northwest markets are concerned is just as unsettled as the weather.

Prediction on grain prices secured from brokers and millers by the United Press to-day ran from a gradual easing off to euphatic assertions that the next few weeks will see wheat at $3 a bushel and corn at $2 a bushel. It all hinges on Government control of the situation, brokers said. The efforts of Julius Barnes, Federal wheat director, to force down prices were given some credit for drops in the last few days. C. M. Chase, president of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, however, said he believed farmers were just now hearing of high prices and are proceeding to let go of their holdings.

"The farmers have been busy," he said. "They have heard about the high prices and are hauling their grain to market. It is the farmer back away from the markets who holds his grain and he is the last one to hear about the high prices."

"There is a good demand for grain, and of course a possibility that prices will go up, but I believe we have seen the highest prices already. In three weeks the Texas and Oklahoma wheat will be on the market. I believe there will be a big movement of wheat in three weeks, and it will continue. Undoubtedly there will be a big crop, and I don't see how prices can go very high in the next three weeks."

The Government is not likely to suffer any loss on its guaranteed price of $2.26 to the farmer. It isn't possible for the price to get below that. Foreign demand for the new crop will be large. Russia—which country has for a long time been a big exporter—is down and out. She will need food badly and will be in the market for some of this year's crop. It will be several years before Russia recovers. There is not much prospect of meat or other food articles going down so long as there is a European demand.

Several brokers predicted $3 wheat, $2 corn and similarly high prices on other grains before the first of July. They asserted there is a big wheat shortage and pointed out that millers here have declined to take orders for flour for delivery after July 1.

"The millers have already contracted up to the limit of the supply," said Henry Meyer, vice president of the Capital City Milling & Flour Company, of St. Paul. "Prices cannot come down until the new crop is here. There is no surplus anywhere. No Canadian wheat is arriving here, so far as I know, despite the Government threat to let some through in an effort to break the high prices. Nobody knows what the Government will do after July 1."

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZE, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "It seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultze's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

In France in order to rehabilitate that country, have been pouring into the offices of members of Congress and are invariably accompanied by criticism of the methods of the War Department which have permitted it. Frank W. King, a member of the city council of Ft. Wayne, wired to Senator Harry New a protest which received immediate attention. Referring to the treatment of the 113th Engineers doing duty in France, he said: "They have been in France about seven months, making almost two years in the service, and they object to the way the government is using them in the building of roads and the transferring of them into the regular army and the bringing back of the regular enlisted men. They also object to the way the government has released ball players, prize fighters and boxers, etc., who did not serve one half the time these boys did."

Senator New took the matter up with the War Department and was told that the regiment is being retained in France for reasons of "military necessity."

40 WINTERS 40 SUMMERS—SINCE THEN HAVE ROLLED AWAY

Forty winters and forty summers have rolled away since persons who are living and well today first took the prescription for "Number 40 For Blood." "Number 40" is compounded from ingredients that are set down in the U. S. Dispensatory and other authoritative medical books as follows: "Employed in diseases of the glandular and lead poisoning, scrofula, rheumatism, in blood poison, mercurialism, catarrh, constipation, liver and stomach diseases. Under its use, sores, ulcers, nodes, tumors and scrofulous swellings that have withstood all other treatment disappear as if by magic."

NOT ENOUGH MONEY.

Paris, May 9.—The financial clauses of the treaty between the allied and associated nations and Germany continue to be the most discussed sections of the document and are almost universally condemned by the commentators for not making Germany responsible for the repayment of the entire cost of the war and for leaving France with a burden placed at 170,000,000,000 francs.

"What will the stupefaction of France be when it is realized that her victory condemns her to bankruptcy?" asks La Nouvelle. The Democratic Socialists' official organ, l'Humanite, condemns the treaty unreservedly, saying it is a "Bonapartist capitalist peace which no Socialist deputy can ratify, and history will consider it as a criminal breach of a sworn word and an outrage on morals and right."

Surgeons agree that in cases of cuts, lacerations, bruises and wounds the first treatment is most important. NAVY BEAN MAY REDUCE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Discovered!—one article of food that will contribute its mite toward reducing the high cost of living.

Mr. General Public, allow us to introduce you to our benefactor, Mr. Navy Bean.

There, now the formal meeting is over with. Take Mr. Navy Bean into your arms and into your home. Mr. General Public, and feed him to your family. He will help to sustain you—for he is very nutritious—and he'll not prove such a drain upon your market purse.

Mr. Navy Bean is the lone philanthropist among all of the food families to-day. He has dropped while others have joined the unmitigated association of high prices. He, too, formerly occupied an exalted position in that society. That was in 1917 when he sold at 16 cents a pound, wholesale. To-day he is selling at 9 cents a pound, wholesale.

The navy bean is about the only food that has been reduced in price since the war. The decline in price is said to have resulted from a big crop and curtailment of the demand, due to the fact that the Government is no longer purchasing large quantities of beans for the army and navy.

The price of navy beans reached the maximum in 1917. Then the Food Administrator took charge and the wholesale price for 1918 ranged from 11 to 12 cents a pound. Local wholesalers recall when 4 cents a pound was the quotation on navy beans. Those were before-the-war days.

BUREAU FORECASTS A BIG WHEAT HARVEST

U. S. Crop Bureau Reports
1,046,000 acres
In State.

The bureau of estimates on crops, United States Department of Agriculture, in one of the most optimistic statements of agricultural and livestock conditions offered in many months, reports Kentucky now has 1,046,000 acres of wheat left for harvest, as the crop came through the winter in such excellent condition that only 1 per cent of the big acreage sown last fall was plowed up for other crops.

Its excellent condition, 102 per cent now promises a crop of 15,257,000 bushels if no serious injury occurs before harvest.

Last year at this time the condition was 101 per cent, while ten-year average condition is 86 per cent.

The entire United States winter wheat crop now shows a condition of 100.5 per cent compared to 86.4 per cent May 1, 1918, while the total acreage is 48,719,129, compared to 36,704,000 acres last year.

This indicates a probable crop of $99,915,000 bushels of winter wheat alone, compared to 558,449,000 bushels produced last year.

Rye and hay in Kentucky now show averages slightly less than last year, rye 61,750 acres, which is 5 per cent decrease, and hay 1,150,560 acres, which is two per cent decrease.

Kentucky farmers report 13 per cent of last year's hay crop still on farms, compared to an average of 9.4 per cent for the entire United States.

Farm work is unevenly advanced in this state, farmers reporting 75 per cent of plowing and 35 per cent of planting done by May 1, compared to 75 per cent and 40 per cent, May 1 1919.

Some sections are well advanced, while others are badly delayed by wet weather. Pastures show a condition of 92 per cent compared to 91 per cent, May 1, last year.

Livestock came through the winter in good condition both in Kentucky and the United States as a whole. Spring lambs are doing well, although occasionally farmers report serious losses.

TO WOOLGROWERS.

Each county is being urged by the Department of Agriculture to pool the wool clip and sell in county pools. You realize that this method of sale has proven highly satisfactory in the past, and in this plan the margin of safety necessarily used by buyers is eliminated, which means a better price for wool.

The following suggestions about marketing your wool in order to make it sell at a maximum price is offered by men of long experience in the sheep and wool business.

You can spend no more profitable time than in picking the burrs out of the wool, this to be done of course before you shear. Do not shear sheep when the wool is damp even from heavy dews; keep your sheep up in a dry place the night before shearing and do not shear for several days after a rain as the wool will be light from washing out the grease.

Be sure to tag your wool well and keep the tags separate as the tags will sell at a good price. Secure paper or cotton twine, (this is important) and tie each fleece neatly and separately.

Secure your wool sacks and pack the wool in tightly and store in a dry place until the pool is ready to handle it.

Do not shear too early as it is thought that the market will probably not open before June.

The man who is careless with his fleeces and has a lot of mixed wool full of burrs and tags and poorly tied is responsible for low prices received by the man who handles his wool right. Will you let such men cheapen your product, or will you join hands with the men of the county who want the highest market price? You can do this by selling your wool in the graded pool.

about the peace table and the absence of Congress," said Chairman Simon D. Fess, of the National Republican Congressional Committee, to your correspondent.

"The report of a rail deficit of $130,000,000 the first three months of the year emphasizes the necessity of immediate solution of this problem. The anomalous situation of the greatest railway system in the world representing one of the most important agencies of prosperity, rapidly deteriorating not only in efficiency of service but in stability of finance and rolling stock, at the moment when it is carrying the largest traffic at the highest charge on the public ever paid, is to apparent to warrant comment. Under government control operating expenses have so increased that the railway business faces bankruptcy which may demand a continuance of the national treasury considered. The people will ask economical and efficient service as well as security of transportation.

"The remedy is such modification of the law touching the railways as to permit immediate return to their owners, making them responsible for the service. There should be rigid governmental supervision so as to permit them to run as regional systems in order to satisfy and protect all the elements concerned. The public will insist upon the retention of whatever improvement have been induced by government ownership, such as common terminals, interchange of tickets, routing over short-haul lines, and so on. The solution of this highly important and vital problem has been delayed all too long, and one of the first measures to be taken up by the new Congress will be this."

FRIDAY MAY 16

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce I. S. Mason a candidate for Representative of Ohio county, subject to the action of the Republican party at the primary election August 2, 1919.

We are authorized to announce George Baker, of Muhlenburg county a candidate for the nomination for State Senator in the 7th Senatorial district, composed of the counties of Muhlenburg, Butler and Ohio, subject to the action of the Republican party at the primary election, August 2, 1919.

We are authorized to announce Dr. T. G. Turner, of Muhlenburg County, as a candidate for the nomination for State Senator in the 7th Senatorial district, composed of Ohio Butler and Muhlenburg counties, subject to the action of the Republican Party at the primary election to be held August 2nd., 1919.

Everybody is perfectly satisfied with the Republican state convention except the Democratic newspapers.

Rubber tires are off 15 per cent. Most of us do not buy rubber tires, but it is good to hear of the price of something coming down.

After a Republican congress convenes in Washington, Monday the President will find that things have changed since Betsey died.

It is a pretty certain fact that any party declaring for universal military training will have the soldier vote arrayed almost solidly against it.

The Louisville Courier Journal said Wednesday, "A political party is tested by the men it exalts." It was referring to Champ Clark, and not to A. O. Stanley.

The most persistent advocate of "personal liberty" can not question the fact that prohibition, even when not very strictly enforced, contributes to public order.

Money judiciously spent for building good roads is, in no sense a contribution to a public enterprise, but an investment that will pay large returns in actual cash.

If our Ohio county farmers would build good roads, clear up the thickets, clean out the fence rows and drain their low lands they would double the value of their property and quadruple the joy of living.

The miners of the county are having a disappointing number of idle days, occasioned by want of orders by the operators. The extremely mild winter has materially reduced fuel consumption, and both operators and employees are feeling the effects of it.

With freight and passenger rates largely increased, and the railroads carrying the largest volume of traffic in their entire history, the government lost $875,000,000 in operating them last year—and McAdoo wanted to continue the process for five years.

Senator Hitchcock says if a Republican senate refuses to ratify the League of Nations clause of the peace treaty, President Wilson will appeal directly to the country. Is it possible Senator Hitchcock has so soon forgotten the President's luck in appealing to the country in the last days of October 1918.

Our new county farm agent is here and ready to serve the purposes of our farmers. Mr. McCracken is a fine type of gentleman, is thoroughly competent and has his heart in the work. He wants to be of service to the farmers and courts their acquaintance and inquiries. His services are free. Use him.

The Sunday School is the bulwark of public morals, but it is deplorable that too much time is wasted in discussing the distance from Jerusalem to Joppa. Only great moral lessons that prepare the children for good citizenship and faithful and devout church members should be given attention in the Sunday morning classes.

The Republican state convention that met at Lexington Wednesday was the most harmonious ever held in the state by any party. There was not a note of discord, not a wrangle or dispute. The platform adopted represents the best thought of the time, and the ticket nominated is composed of men of known efficiency and high character.

An industrious mathematician has calculated that turning up the clock one hour has resulted in a saving of 983,385 working years, which leads us to ladle the melancholy reflection that an additional 245,843 1/2 years might have been saved but for the accident that nobody was thoughtful enough to suggest the clock be moved up an hour and a quarter. What a stupid old world this is.

The Breckenridge News says Cloverport should clean its streets and cut the weeds lest a child get lost and the city be sued. The same danger confronts Hartford, and in addition to the danger of children getting lost in the weeds, there is serious risk of them being snake bitten. However, Hartford officials depend for weed destruction on an early frost nipping what is left by Eck Rial's cow.

The German peace commissioners have refused to sign the peace treaty submitted by the Allies. The reason assigned is that the terms are so drastic that nothing worse than signing could possibly happen to the German nation. If Germany persists in refusing to agree to the terms offered an awkward predicament will confront the Allies. They will have to police the entire country with millions of soldiers and finance the operation at an expense of billions of dollars. It is probable that after an obstinate play for a softening of terms Germany will sign the treaty, but this action is by no means certain. To the superficial observer Germany is at the feet of her conquerors and must take what she can get, but the peace commissioners of the Allies indulge no such feeling of certainty.

Following a visit to the capitol city we venture the prediction that the Democratic contest for the nomination for governor is between Black and Rhea, with the people for Black and the politicians for Rhea. One well-known Democratic leader remarked "the people who do the voting are for Black but the people who do the counting are for Rhea." Denhardt's candidacy appears to be not taken seriously and Carroll, admittedly the ablest of the quartet, is a victim of circumstances in being unknown to the people and unpopular with the politicians. To the disinterested observer, standing on the outside, it appears that Stanley's army of appointees are fastened to line up behind Rhea, but since the Stanley Army will pass under the command of Gen. Black, after next Monday, it may react to its new master.

My dear Cousin:—I received your letter to-day and was sure glad to hear from you. I am having a good time now. I have been in Germany every since November and am on the bank of the Moselle river. I have seen lots of pretty things since I have been here. I have been out of the United States twenty-three months, and I sure do want to see you all. I have met lots of boys from Kentucky and it is pleasant indeed to get with a boy from my home state.

Say Blanch, I have been going to school, are you? When did you see my girl? I have not heard from her for two months, and it seems like two years over here.

How are the mines working now? I would love to be back in Beaver Dam again and see every body.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Flnke McFluke.)

Ed Barrass says Doc Pirtle pulled his old Joe-boat no less than 300 miles last week, searching for a bit of clear water in which to fish.

That Lady of Central Grove, who killed the hawk, the first throw, with a stone the other day, ought to have a mighty good and well-behaving husband.

Circuit Judge, R. W. Slack, who has been conducting court here for about three weeks, ought to have the last part of his name changed, so some of the lawyers say.

It's a daddfrazled outrage when a feller can't write another feller a letter without its being published in some second-rate, County newspaper. John Henry knows dumnd well that the letter I wrote him from Grassy last week was strictly personal and not for publication.

Clarence Raley, a mighty good citizen of near Horse Branch, was here a day or so ago, and complained somewhat of there being too much Thomas, Tinsley and grape juice in his paper, but, as he paid up his dues for more than a year in advance we didn't take no special offense at the criticism.

We had a letter from Capt. Al Barnett, now in Germany, this week, in which he said he would take great pleasure in yanking that withered, wing swinging to that old bird, Bill Hohenzollern, the exile in Holland, for being personally responsible for his missing three straight fishing trips with the bunch on Grassy.

For the life of me I can't just see how old Noah managed to put up with so much water at one time, whilst I admit some water is a mighty good and handy thing to fish in, dissolve sugar for syrup, for John Henry to wash his feet in about once in three months and a few other things, but it is my notion, privately expressed, that the weather man who orders all this rain never tried fishing or farming when the whole face of the earth was covered with muddy, murky liquid.

WHITE MAN'S STABLE.

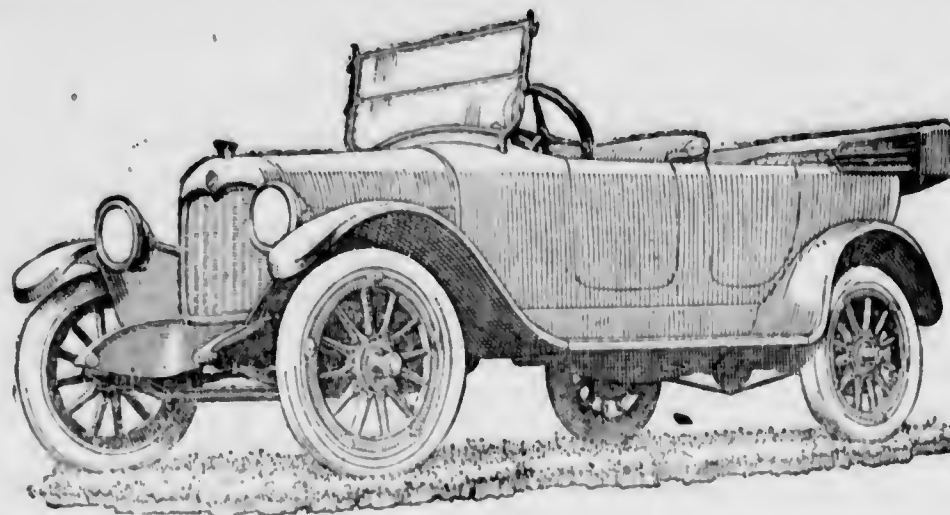

The country is full of lung and catarrhal fever among horses, and people need to exercise extreme caution to prevent spread of this disease. I have just completed thorough cleaning and disinfecting my stable, have whitewashed it, and at considerable expense have made it perfectly safe for the housing of stock. My stable is now the cleanest, and clearest of disease, of any stable in the county, and I absolutely guarantee against infection of any stock left in my charge. I shall appreciate your patronage, will insure the safety of your stock and treat you right.

We couldn't make the Maxwell any better; so we made it better looking

An artist never frames his masterpiece until he finishes it. So the new Maxwell, a completed work, is now robed in new garments.

They do not make it run any better. They make it look better.

Mr. Whistler, himself, were he here today and saw a new Maxwell pass on the street, would probably give it a second look.

A little touch here, the straightening of a line there, the bringing of a fender a little closer to the wheel, a circassian walnut dash before you as you sit at the wheel, the strength lent by putting the gas tank in the rear, the multiplication of bonnet vents, the adding of three more painting coats, the increased thickness of the seat cushions—these, though but a few of the many changes made—show the tendency of the new beauty.

It is in the sum of many little things that the full story is told.

The car was first checked off in squares, as a doctor sometimes marks off a man's chest and back to test every square inch of the lungs.

And there was an improvement made in nearly every square.

When the task was done it looked like a different Maxwell.

But it wasn't.

It was the same, sound, go-get-there chassis built to stand the gall of rough and ready driving, built to endure, to "stay put," to stand all the erratic moods of the careless driver.

It was a five-year drive to reach this present peak of Maxwell efficiency. But the engineers, and the manufacturing men knew that building a chassis without fundamental change in design year after year would ultimately tell in results. For everyone knows that doing one thing results in doing it well.

So in five years 300,000 Maxwells have come forth, all built on the original chassis plan—each new one better than the last.

There is no self-starting automobile in the world that has such a manufacturing record.

Think what it means to a man who owns one:

He has not paid for a false overhead. He has not paid for manufacturing mistakes. He has not paid for experimental work. He has not paid for the changes of mind of another man.

Today you get a better Maxwell than any of the 300,000, and a better looking Maxwell. It is a finished work, a completed task, a thing well done.

You run no risk—and when you cast your eyes on it you are tempted to feel that the price might easily be $200 more.

The Flow of Meat

Two-thirds of the live stock in the United States has to be raised in the West.

One-half of the consumers of meat live in the East.

In other words, most of the live stock is one or two thousand miles distant from most of the people who need it in the form of food.

Fifty years ago, when live stock was raised close to every consuming center, the country butcher could handle the job after a fashion.

But the job got too big.

Now millions of animals have to be moved hundreds of miles to millions of people. Somewhere on the way they have to be turned into meat.

The packers solved the problem. They set up plants where the "live haul" and the "meat haul" were in the right balance. They built up distributing systems—refrigerator cars, refrigerating plants, branch houses. They saved time, money and meat everywhere. The stockraiser benefited in better markets and higher prices; the consumer, in better meat and lower prices.

As the country grew, the packers had to grow, or break down. Because of its present size and efficiency, Swift & Company is able to perform its part in this service at a fraction of a cent per pound profit.

DOCTOR WARNED HIM AGAINST TAKING QUININE, SAID IT WOULD CAUSE PERMANENT DEAFNESS.

New Braunfels, Texas, Nov. 7, 1905.

Dr. J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind. Dear Sir: "For nearly seven months I had a peculiar trouble in my right ear which caused deafness. I consulted a specialist and he pronounced it to be a formation of lime in some tube or blood vessel which prevented sufficient circulation and very little or nothing could be done for it. He also warned me against taking quinine as it would make a bad matter worse. Believing that no trouble was of malarial origin I began to take Mendenhall's Chili and Fever Tonic, as you recommended it to be taken where quinine was contra-indicated. To my delight I improved from the start and at this writing 28 days later am entirely rid of my trouble. I took all of six bottles, and will take it awhile every seventh day to prevent a return." Very truly yours, J. Giesecke, Editor New Braunfels Weekly. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Have a Well-Planned Garden.

Many farmers fail to realize that one-tenth of an acre devoted to a well-planned and well-tended garden will in many cases produce as much food as an acre of field crops. The garden should, and can with a little planning, be made to produce throughout the entire season instead of only during a month or two in the spring. Three to five plantings of snap beans planted at intervals of two to three weeks, at least three early and one late planting of peas, and frequent small sowings of lettuce will insure a continuous supply of these vegetables during the entire season. Sweet corn should be planted every two or three weeks during the early part of the season and, if the growing season is long, two plantings should be made in July and August for autumn use. The early garden should also be planted so that space will be available when needed for planting fall and winter crops, thus making it possible to have fresh vegetables practically the entire year.

Egg yolks, which are rich in fat and which are often left over from cake making, may be used to enrich soups or may be combined with milk to make custards which resemble cream in composition and can be used as cream on desserts.

Time To Plant Soy Beans and Cowpeas.

Although soy beans and cowpeas may be sown during a period from early spring until mid-summer, the time of planting depends largely upon the latitude and the use to be made of the crop. As a main grain or hay crop, the best time for planting is about the same as for corn, or when the ground has become thoroughly warm. The plants will then start quickly and make a rapid growth. The plants grow slowly in cool weather, and ordinarily there is no advantage in planting earlier than corn. Experiments have shown that the soy bean may be planted earlier than the cowpea, being able to withstand more cold in the early spring. For pasture, green manure, soiling, or even for a hay crop, both the soy bean and cowpea may be sown as late as August 1st in the South and July 1 in the North.

Safety in Lightning Rods.

Lightning rods properly installed reduce risk of loss by lightning to almost nothing, say officials of the United States Department of Agriculture. The annual property loss from lightning in the United States is about $8,000,000, and by far the greater part of this loss is in the rural districts. Directions for installing lightning rods are given in Farmer's Bulletin 824, "Modern Methods of Protection against Lightning." This may be obtained free from the Division of Publications of the Department. All fire insurance companies, says the bulletin, should reduce premiums in favor of buildings satisfactorily rodged.

Prices Are Huge.

The following editorial taken from a late issue of Hoard's Dairyman, is well worth careful reading by every thoughtful farmer in America:

"The U. S. Minister to Sweden reports that during January the people of Moscow, Russia, were paying $1.58 a pound for black bread as against one and a half cents in 1914. Butter sells for $11.29 as against 23 cents a pound in 1914; milk for $1.14 per pint as against 1 1/2 cents; sugar for 6.77 a pound as against five cents and so with many other commodities. "We anticipate that prices are a reflection of the scarcity of food, and that even money in unlimited quantities can not buy all it wants. Salad oils is quoted at $33.8 a pound and tea at $14.67. There is a choice between dog flesh at 78 cents a pound and horse flesh at $1.69 a pound, while other meats cost $2.82.

"Disorganization, anarchy, and Bolshevism are costing the Russian people untold suffering, and hunger stalks at every door, while politicians rant. Would that it were possible for us to carry our milk and cheese and butter to these ignorant folks who have been so sadly led astray. It is sad to think that a whole nation must go through all this suffering to learn the lesson that thrift and labor must go hand in hand with democracy."

Bury Them Deep.

Buzzards or dogs will soon dispose of a dead hog at this season of the year; but they will carry infection to all parts of the surrounding country. A dead hog is dangerous to all the other hogs on the same farm and to every hog in the State. The College of Agriculture at Lexington recommends that all dead animals should be thoroughly burned or buried deep. As burning a body until only the ashes remain is a difficult matter, burying is much simpler. However, the farmer should remember that a shallow covering of earth will not keep dogs from a dead body. At least five feet of earth should cover the dead animal after a liberal supply of quicklime has been sprinkled over the carcass.

Wheat Acreage Larger.

Wheat acreage is 21 per cent greater than last year in Kentucky and the condition May 1 was slightly under that of the 1918 crop, according to the report issued yesterday by Commissioner of Agriculture Mat S. Cohen. Tobacco acreage is 106 per cent of normal in the Kentucky country and 97 per cent in the black patch.

Rye acreage is placed at 91 per cent, a slight increase, with the condition at 98 per cent; barley, acreage 83 per cent, condition 97 per cent; oats, acreage 91 per cent, as compared with 83 in 1918, and condition 92. Hemp acreage is materially reduced, showing less than 45 per cent of crop planted. A 50 per cent increase in soy bean acreage is planned. Potato acreage is reported at 94 per cent.

Livestock is in good condition and the number shows an increase of from 2 to 4 per cent over last year. Farm labor is 81 per cent of normal. The extreme cold weather of April 25 and 26 greatly damaged early fruits and gardens. Grapevines and fruit on lowlands suffered most. Condition of fruits at this time follows: Apples, 59 per cent; peaches 52 per cent; pears, 60 per cent; plums 64 per cent; cherries, 66 per cent; strawberries, 74 per cent.

SOLDIER'S LETTER.

Beaumont, France.

April 10, 1919

Hello Mother:—How are you all by this time? All well I hope. This leaves me well and having a good time.

I got three letters from home last night, one from George and one from my girl, in Indiana. I was sure glad to hear from you all for I had not got any mail for two weeks.

Well, I have not written home for some time for I had nothing to write. The latest letter I got from home was dated the 26th of March.

No, I have not fished any yet and do not think I will try any fishing over here. Don't talk to me about chickens, for I have not had any chicken but once since I came to France.

Well we have been having some fine weather for about one week, but it is raining again today.

I am getting the home paper regular now, and there is some news in it for me. If not for anyone else. I saw in it where Marshal Will Langford, at Stockport, is having some kind of a time.

I got the snapshots of Rets and they made me homesick. I may have my picture made soon and send one of them home, but I am so fat that I am ashamed to have them made.

Well everything is blooming in part of France. I let everything be looking fine in Southern France by this time.

I have not seen a grain of corn since I came to France. I have seen some trying to grow but I don't think that it ever gets over 18 inches high. Cabbage stalks grow about four feet high. Some fine potatoes are grown in this climate, but no melons are grown here.

You see the most of the French take one big piece of bread and a glass of grape wine and eat it like it was peach pie. I could eat boo koo pie now (that means more than two can eat.)

I will have to go back to Camp Taylor and stay there for a while and eat some more of their pies. I have just received one more letter from home and you say that Sgt. Conley is at home. I would like to see the old boy. They left us at Neserole, about 275 miles from here. I will never forget the night before they left the next day, for we sure had some fun.

I will close too sweet with love to all from

SERGEANT H. B. MATTHEWS.

LIVER DIDN'T ACT DIGESTION WAS BAD

Says 65 year Old Kentucky Lady, Who Tells How She Was Relieved After a Few Doses of Black-Draught.

Meadersville, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Higginsbotham, of this town, says: "At my age, which is 65, the liver does not act so well as when young. A few years ago, my stomach was all out of fix. I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak...

I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least trouble was soon righted with a few doses of Black-Draught."

Seventy years of successful use has made Thedford's Black-Draught a standard, household remedy. Every member of every family, at times, need the help that Black-Draught can give in cleansing the system and relieving the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, lazy liver, etc. You cannot keep well unless your stomach, liver and bowels are in good working order. Keep them that way. Try Black-Draught. It acts promptly, gently and in a natural way. If you feel sluggish, take a dose tonight. You will feel fresh tomorrow. BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Claire.)

The worst thing about this new kind of time is that it will give the pesky loaves an extra hour to boller in.

It ever I am on a jury when J. A. C. Park has a lawsuit, he'll win or there'll be a hung jury. I won't forget that fine twist of tobacco he gave me Monday.

The hackel that made the tow for Washington's inaugural suit is modern compared to a relic Steve May has. Steve has got Noah's old boot jack.

When Tins was glittin' in off his fishin' trip Aus Bratcher saw him sneakin' in home by the back way, and thinkin' he might a brought a little grape juice back, Aus met him at the barn, and was sorely disappointed when Tins said rite low: "Hush, my wife is splittin' on a big pile of kumidin," and if she sees me she'll want me to kumish it."

It is funny about the law of In-fences. Twenty four hours after the Tinsley-Moore-Pirle-Harrass fishin' party reached the mouth of Grassy even Rough creek got "full."

It Arch James and Tom Keown had a brought me some good home-spun tobacco I wouldn't a printed it about them goin' to a play party here one night last week.

For the benefit of visitors Frank-let orer post signs that everywhere worth goin' to closes at eleven o'clock.

Some people is as cranky about bees races as Tins is about fishin'. I saw in the papers where Eli—or was it Harry Payne Whitney and July—or maybe it was August Belmont and a lot of other rich New Yorkers come all the way to Louisville in a special car just to see the Derby. They got there an hour before the race and left five minutes afterward. It must be awful to be both rich and cranky.

A friend in Louisville Friday nite offered me a pass to the Derby, but I didn't think the races a fittin' place for a moral man to go. This would a went.

DRAINAGE TAX NOTICE.

At a meeting of the Board of Drainage Commissioners of Ohio County, Kentucky, held at the Court House, in Hartford, Ky., on Saturday, April 12, 1919, with a majority of the members present, it was ordered that an assessment or tax of TEN (10), PER CENTUM, based upon the original assessment for construction of said dike, be made and levied against the lands and landowners located within the M. H. BARNARD, ET AL., DRAINAGE DISTRICT in Ohio County, Kentucky. Said assessment or tax hereby levied for the purpose of repaying said dike, replacing the dikes or fills washed out or damaged by the recent high water, for the general maintenance of said District and for the payment of any other legitimate expenses incurred.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

About fifty people, composed of his children, other relatives and neighbors gathered at the home of Isaac Shown, of near this place Wednesday, in a surprise meeting, celebrating the 66th annual and important event in Mr. Shown's career. The gathering was unexpected by the one honored, and those attending brought well filled baskets for the spread enjoyed at the noon hour. It was a day of pleasure for all who were there.

TO FAMILIES OF MEN IN SERVICE

Miss Ola Arick, Field Representative, Lake Division, American Red Cross, visited the local chapter, Tuesday. Her work was with the Home Service Section in particular. She met a number of people on the Home Service and Executive Committees and explained the scope and developments in the Home Service work. One very interesting point brought out was the fact that, contrary to the general opinion, Home Service work will not decrease since the fighting is over. It is to continue and expand. A peace Program of Home Service has been outlined by National Headquarters which extends to nry family the same kind of neighborly service and counsel that has been extended to soldiers' and sailors' families. Miss Arick outlined the following points which will be of special interest to every soldier and sailor and their families and shows what Home Service can and will do for them.

Information—The Red Cross Home Service Section can assist in information of every kind concerning relatives in service, especially those missing, sick or wounded.

Allowance and Allotment—Can furnish information concerning allowances and allotments to dependent wives, mothers and children and will assist in securing them their rights under the law.

Insurance—Inform the family and the returned soldier about the Insurance Law and its provisions. Encourage soldiers to take and retain their insurance. Can furnish information as to the terms of conversion into ordinary insurance after the man has returned.

Bonus—Assist the discharged man in making application for the $50.00 bonus due him under the Revenue Act of February 24.

Financial Emergencies—Can obtain legal and business advice on any question arising concerning the affairs of the soldier either during or after service.

Medical Attention—Provide medical attention for the returned disabled soldier and for his family whenever necessary.

Returned Soldier and Sailor—Encourages and aids the returned soldier and his family during difficult period of readjustment.

Disabled Soldier—Assist him in securing government compensation and the retraining and readjustment provided by the government.

Personal Advice—Assists the soldier and sailor and his family with courteous kindly neighborliness to solve whatever problems arise.

Division and National headquarters will go on helping the local Home Service Section to develop and to maintain a high standard of work. This chapter will make survey of the needs of the community, outline its program and then present it to Division Headquarters for approval. The same principles of service found so successful in helping the families of soldiers and sailors will be applied.

The Home Service office of Ohio County is located in E. G. Harrass' office in Hartford, Ky.

ELIZABETH MOORE, Sec.

A RECORD FINE.

What, so far as we know, was the heaviest fine ever imposed in the Ohio circuit court, was assessed last week, against The Silver King Novelty Company, of Indianapolis, Ind. The company deals in sporting goods, and about two years ago placed through its agents slot machines—wax vendors—in more than a dozen stores in the county. The Court of Appeals has already passed upon such machines as in violation of the law and Commonwealth's Attorney, C. E. Smith had indictments returned against those setting up and operating the machines, as well as against the company supplying them. The Silver King Novelty Company was called upon to answer to nine indictments, and not appearing to contest the prosecution, was fined $200 in each of the nine cases, making a total of fines amounting to $1800.

BILL'S RUBBLE BESTS.

Our good friend, "Uncle Bill" Balze, of Hazletown, is in trouble, serious trouble, with his good wife, "Aunt Manda." We are giving "Uncle Bill's" version of the affair, and he of course puts all of the blame on "Aunt Manda," but if "Aunt Manda" wants to flare back at him she is welcome to two whole columns in this paper.

According to "Uncle Bill's" version of the story he and the good wife had planned to buy a Ford in the spring. He relates how, when eggs were high and the hens were laying freely last winter he carried off great baskets of eggs and brought home great rolls of money, the good wife saying, with each addition of the cash pile, they would buy a Ford in the spring. When Spring came "Uncle Bill" all unbeknownst to his wife ordered the Ford, but when it came "Aunt Manda" flatly refused to come across with the egg money, and left "Uncle Bill" with the bag to hold. Now putting the puzzle together we get about this out of it. "Uncle Bill" had been using the egg money to buy tobacco and maybe some more expensive luxuries, and the good woman fell on the automobile scheme in order to get her egg money in her own pocket.
